MOOD DISORDER QUESTIONNAIRE (MDQ)

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE CLINICIAN

The Mood Disorder Questionnaire (MDQ) is a validated screening tool for bipolar disorder that can be administered either by the clinician or self-administered by the patient.

The MDQ consists of 15 questions and takes about 5 minutes to complete. The first 13 questions about possible symptoms are answered with either “yes” or “no.” The other 2 questions assess family history, past diagnoses, and disease severity.

Bipolar disorder is commonly misdiagnosed. The likelihood of underdiagnosis or a missed diagnosis is greatly lessened by the routine use of a screening instrument such as the MDQ. Use of the MDQ can identify 70% of persons with bipolar disorder while eliminating the diagnosis for 90% of persons without the condition.

The MDQ was developed and validated by Robert Hirschfeld, MD, and colleagues.*
